BEST PRACTICE-1

Engaging Students in Quality Enhancement Processes

Higher educational institutions in India have been playing a crucial role in the evolution of the knowledge communities and societies dedicated to the advancement of knowledge. To this end, the participation of all stakeholders, including the involvement of students in the institutional quality enhancement process is important. Students' participation in quality enhancement is an ongoing and continuous practice at this college.

Students are seen as citizens in the making who contribute to the overall growth and development of the society. They are the major forces who continuously strive to extend the frontiers of knowledge. Students' participation in quality enhancement is viewed as an opportunity through which they can participate in its continual development. This also generates a sense of belongingness towards the institution and instils a sense of responsibility for maintaining the quality of education of the institution.

Integration of Professional Studies with Graduate Programmes

St. Joseph's College of Commerce offers and prepares students for various professional programmes as part of its diverse and progressive curriculum. These professional programmes cater to both international and Indian requirements, enabling and empowering students to become industry-ready. Given the increasing demand for qualified and certified professionals globally, the college has been continuously trying to reinvent its programmes to meet the global standards.

The college offers the following integrated professional programmes along with the BBA and B. Com programmes:

- Chartered Accountancy (CA)
- Chartered Accountancy (CA)
- Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA)
- Chartered Institute of Management Accountants (CIMA)
- Chartered Financial Analysts (CFA)

BEST PRACTICE-2

1. Title of the Best Practice

Choice Based Credit System (CBCS)

2. The Context

Smt Kandukuri RajyaLakshmi Government Degree College of Commerce, with a firm focus on holistic education strives to continually adapt a student-centric approach to education. Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) is one of the Best Practice introduced by AKNU to create flexibility in the learning process for the student and to enable them to learn in a more creative manner.

3. Objectives of the Practice

- CBCS gives students greater flexibility and mobility to determine their learning choices.
 - This choice will help student to take inter-disciplinary or allied field of subjects to their liking/ interest.
- CBCS helps to develop interdisciplinary approach in higher education with transparency and accountability.
 - Allows greater interaction with industry and helps to develop a curriculum, keeping in mind the requirements of the industry.

4. The Practice

In the CBCS, the awarding of the degree is based on the number of credits earned by the students from 4 major sections:

- Languages
- Core Course and Elective Courses
- Co-Curricular Activities
- Extension Activities

The students of the second year have the choice of selecting two open electives from a list of diverse multidisciplinary subject topics that they wish to study during the duration of their degree. The third- year students have the choice of selecting Two elective of their choice from a list of five major electives which further consists of four core papers.

5. Advantages

- Various tie-ups and collaborations with foreign universities and professional bodies.
- Introduction of courses which have Global relevance and Demand.
 - Greater industry-academia integration.
 - Enhances scope for student participation and experiential learning

6. Challenging issues

- Providing students with multidisciplinary subject choices in a single disciplinary college.
 - The choice of open electives is limited as only two subject papers can be accommodated into the second years' curriculum and one elective can be opted for by the third- year students.
 - Due to the availability of limited seats for each allied option and elective it may lead to denial of seats to some students who may be passionate about the subject.
 - Intensive efforts also have to be made to change the mindsets of the existing teaching staff that have to inculcate these interdisciplinary subjects into the curriculum and make a radical change from a teacher centric approach to a student centric approach.

7. Evidence of Success

- Positive student testimonials and feedback have been received.
- The CBCS approach has led to an increase in the rate of placement rates and opportunities for the students.

8. Resources Required

- Skilled teachers with a wide knowledge of various interdisciplinary subjects.
- A library which enables students to access books from various disciplines.
- Fully equipped computer labs so that skill -based papers such as excel, SAP programs, etc.

ACTIVITY-1 CAMPAIGN IN CONNECTION WITH WORLD OZONE DAY

1. Title of the Practice

CAMPAIGN AGAINST USAGE OF PP CARRY BAGS

2. Objectives of the Practice

Nowadays people are addicted to PP carry bag usage. The PP carry bags are not biodegradable hence their usage should be stopped.

3. The Context

The soil will lose its fertility, plants won't grow to the expected extent which leads to a shortage of food grains. To overcome this problem the usage of PP carry bags should be stopped and in place of these bags made up of biodegradable materials like cloth or paper should be used.

4. The Practice

Department of Chemistry is in the practice of campaigning about the hazardous dangers of the usage of PP covers and the usage of bags made up of biodegradable materials.

5. Evidence of Success

Department of Chemistry stitched cloth bags and involved the students in making of paper bags. These are distributed to the RMC sanitary workers and instructed to use these bags instead of PP carry bags. The RMC sanitary workers expressed their feelings with satisfaction.

6. Problems encountered and resources required

The preparation of cloth bags is an expensive task. The staff of the department can't contribute always, hence financial aid should be supported to continue the practice.

DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY BEST PRACTICES 2022-2023

1. Title of the practice: Blood grouping Tests (27/01/2023).

2. Objectives of the practice: The main purpose of conducting this practice in our campus to understand the basic concept of the ABO blood group system and to know students blood group type and Rh factor.

3. The Context: We all should be aware of our blood groups. It plays a very important role when it comes to having a blood transfusion. Knowing our blood group helps us to select appropriate blood for transfusion either during any emergencies or accidents. Here is a simple and easy experiment to find out our blood type sitting at home with the help of a Blood Group Test Kit. A human blood cell includes red blood cells, white blood cells, and platelets. All these blood cells play a significant role in transportation, protection and regulation. Blood groups are mainly determined by the presence or absence of antigens and antibodies on the surface of our red blood cells or erythrocytes. The blood transfusion from the wrong blood group can be life-threatening. The four major blood groups are: A, B, AB and O. The blood grouping system was discovered in the year 1901 by Karl Landsteiner- an Austrian biologist and immunologist.

4. The practice: Conducted identification of Blood groups for students in our College. In this connection we are identified A, B, AB&O Blood groups and Rh factor.

5. Method: Take a clean glass slide and draw three circles on it.

*Unpack the Monoclonal Antibodies (MAB) kit. In the first circle add Anti-A, to the second circle *add Anti-B and to the third circle add Anti-D with the help of a dropper.

*Keep the slide aside safely without disturbing.

*Now wipe the ring finger with the alcohol swabs and rub gently near the fingertip, where the blood sample will be collected.

*Prick the ring fingertip with the lancet and wipe off the first drop of the blood

.*As blood starts oozing out, allow it to fall on the three circles of the glass slide by gently pressing the fingertip.

*Apply pressure on the site where it was pricked and to stop blood flow. Use the cotton ball if required.

*Mix the blood sample gently with the help of a toothpick and wait for a minute to observe the result. The chart which predicts the different types of blood groups along with its Rh factor.

Blood Type	A	B	O	AB
Rh-positive	A+	B+	O+	AB
